E.S. Names Gymnasium In Tom Waring's Honor

EAST STROUDSBURG Area Joint High School's new gymnasium became the "Tom Waring Memorial Gymnasium" last night.

Acting on a suggestion by The Daily Record, the East Stroudsburg Jointure Committee adopted the name at its January meeting.

Dr. Evan Reese made the motion to dedicate the gymnasium as a living memorial to the man who, he recalled, had given much of his time, talents and money to help young people, both in education and athletics and in all walks of life. Waring died a week ago yesterday.

Announcement was made that the Tulsa Choir, which has appeared in this area for many years as a result of the efforts of Tom and Fred Waring, would like to make an appearance in the community to pay its respects to Tom Waring.

The board accepted the offer and approved Jan. 29 as the day for the choir to appear here for the benefit. The concert will be given at 3 p.m. with the proceeds earmarked for the Tom Waring Scholarship Fund of the East Stroudsburg Area Joint High School.

The choir will be going more than 200 miles off its regular scheduled tour and will, if necessary, cancel an engagement to be present on the given date.

Waring Concert
A spokesman for Fred Waring announced that Waring and the Pennsylvanians will present a benefit show in the gymnasium with the proceeds going to the scholarship fund.

The dates for the benefit show and a formal dedication of the gymnasium will be announced at a later date, a school board member said.

In addition to giving the gymnasium a name the board adopted a resolution that states, in part, that during Tom Waring's lifetime he "devoted countless hours and donated substantial

Gov. Vandiver Withdraws As Candidate

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Gov. Ernest Vandiver withdrew himself Thursday from consideration as secretary of the Army because "my first duty is to the people of Georgia."

President-elect John F. Kennedy, in a wire from his New York headquarters, promptly acknowledged Vandiver's telegram of withdrawal and said: "I hope it will be possible for you, when you have completed your work there to join the administration in a position of responsibility."

He gave no hint of what other high post he might have in mind later for Vandiver, who has two years left in his term.

The 42-year-old governor's announcement ended days of speculation among Georgia politicians. Among these was Lt. Gov. Garland T. Byrd who, if Vandiver had taken over the governor's chair and the hot potato of proposed new segregation legislation due to come up when the legislature meets two weeks hence.

In a note of bitterness, Vandiver's telegram said, "Irresponsible journalism by a New York Times writer, falsely alleging 'congressional pressure,' has been embarrassing to me." He referred to a Times report that Georgia's Sen. Richard E. Russell and Rep. Carl Vinson, chairmen respectively of the Senate and House Armed Services committees had brought pressure to bear on Vandiver's behalf. Vandiver is Russell's nephew by marriage.

Kennedy also took occasion in his reply "to reiterate at this time that on no occasion did you, the members of the Georgia congressional delegation, or any other citizen attempt to influence or pressure me in regard to this nomination."

money to help the young people of the East Stroudsburg Area Joint School both in their various group projects, as an individual, and in the improvement of important school functions.

"Mr. Waring, among other projects, did take the leadership of and so effectively carry out a program of entertainment at the Memorial Stadium in cooperation with the Varsity E Club of East Stroudsburg so as to raise monies which were used to pay for the stadium lights.

Senate Votes Temporary Education, Relief Funds

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Senate—meeting in a 19-minute session with only 17 senators present—gave preliminary approval Thursday night to legislation providing $30 million for education and relief payments.

The $30 million will come from the state employees, and school teachers retirement funds.

The Senate is expected to move the legislation into position for final approval when it meets again Friday at noon. The measures can receive final legislative approval at a post-midnight session.

The bills, already passed by the House, were referred to the Senate's temporary committee on legislation and were approved by that group about 12 minutes later. They received initial Senate approval after Republican floor leader James S. Berger received an assurance from Sen. Charles R. Weiner, Democratic floor leader, that it was the intention of the legislature to repay the money later.

Gov. David L. Lawrence's administration has said the relief fund will go broke unless the appropriations are approved before midnight next Monday.

The House was in recess but is scheduled to return for a token session early Saturday for Speaker H. G. Andrews to sign the bills after they pass the Senate.

Both houses then will adjourn until Jan. 16, leaving next week open because of the annual State Farm Show.

Doctor's License Taken

14 Die After Injections

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Fourteen patients of an Erlon psychiatrist died of an acute liver disease after getting injections from him, the State Health Department said Thursday.

It said 30 other patients injected by Dr. Albert L. Weiner of Erlon also contracted the disease, without fatal results. The deaths occurred last fall, with the last one in November, it said.

Atty. Gen. David D. Furman said the State Board of Medical Examiners suspended Weiner's license Dec. 21 on a temporary basis. It has not been restored. Furman asserted that an investigation is being held to see if the suspension should be made permanent and if criminal prosecution should be started.

The health department said the disease was presumably serum hepatitis.

A health department spokesman said Weiner used injections to administer drugs to calm his patients. The spokesman said it was possible the needle used by Weiner might have been spreading the contagious disease.

The health department said it issued an order Oct. 25, barring Weiner from using parenteral therapy, which means injection with a needle.

Furman said the State Board of Medical Examiners has hired a liver specialist to try to trace the exact cause of hepatitis among Weiner's patients.

The health department said it got into the case when it got some phone calls in October about an outbreak of hepatitis in the Camden area.

It said it started its investigation Oct. 24 and before it was done, 400 persons in the Camden-Philadelphia area had been questioned, including 35 physicians. It had help from health officials in Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey.

It became obvious almost immediately, a department spokesman said, that Weiner was the center of the outbreak.

He was ordered to stop the injections the day after the probe started.

But the deaths continued, the last one occurring in November. The outbreak apparently is over now, the department said.

Red Regime Turned Down By Council

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council in effect rejected Thursday night Cuba's charge that she faced imminent military invasion by the United States.

Ends Debate
The 11-nation council did so by concluding a two-day debate without taking any formal action on a Cuban complaint filed Saturday saying such intervention was expected in a matter of hours.

This amounted to another defeat for the regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro in its Soviet-supported campaign to have the United Nations denounce the United States as an instigator of moves to topple Castro from power by military force.

Omar Loutfi of the United Arab Republic, council president, ended the meeting with a terse expression of hope for reduction of tensions between the United States and Cuba.

He appealed to both countries to do nothing to aggravate the situation.

The council wound up its debate at 7:30 p.m. in an atmosphere of relative calm compared with outbursts by pro-Castro and anti-Castro demonstrators that disrupted proceedings Wednesday.

Fist Fights
But some fist-fights erupted in the lobby of the General Assembly late Thursday afternoon and again outside U.N. headquarters. U.N. guards ousted the participants from the lobby and New York police broke up the fighting outside the building.

In a final intervention Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa persisted in charging that his country was in danger of military aggression by what he called the reactionary and imperialist regime of President Eisenhower.

"This threat still hangs over Cuba despite the fact that the United States may deny it," he declared. He said invaders "will not meet a Cuba who is alone. They will not meet another Guatemala but they will really get their come-uppance."

Consider Changes
Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin said the break in diplomatic relations was proof of a threat by the United States against Cuba. He expressed hope that the incoming Kennedy administration would "take the course of peaceful settlement of the conflict which has been created."

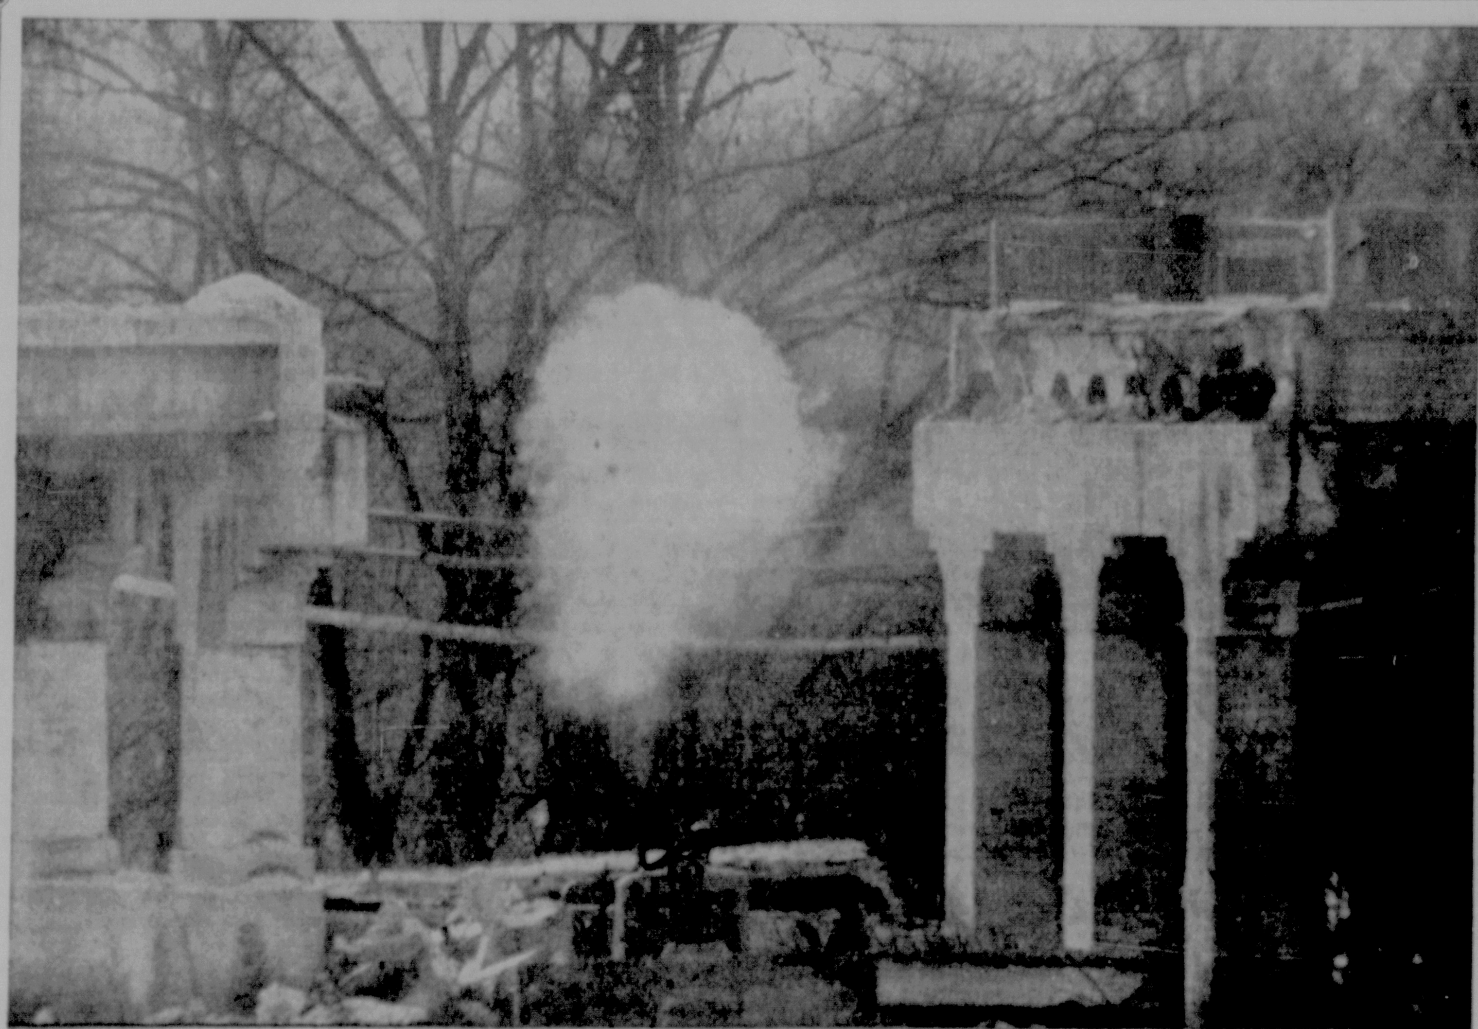

Cuba and Ecuador decided not to press to a vote their resolution merely calling on the United States and Cuba to resolve their differences by peaceful means.

PUC Appoints Hock Official

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Public Utility Commission Thursday appointed Donald V. Hock, former mayor of Allentown, as a public hearing examiner at an annual salary of $5,803.

The commission said the appointment is subject to the approval of the personnel office of Gov. David L. Lawrence.

Hock, who made an unsuccessful bid for Congress last year, will preside at commission hearings in the Allentown-Easton-Bethlehem area, the commission said.

Senate Sees No Threat Of Filibuster

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators pressing for a change in Senate rules to make it easier to shut off filibusters maintained Thursday there was no danger the issue itself would set off a filibuster.

The bipartisan group of liberals called a news conference aimed at dispelling any idea that the fight could bog the Senate in a controversy lasting beyond the Jan. 20 inauguration of President-elect John F. Kennedy.

They said they can use a parliamentary device to bring the debate to a vote if Southern senators opposing their move should attempt a filibuster.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., told reporters the Southerners were "not stalling" but he said that as a practical matter he did not see how any vote could be taken before next week.

He said he understood some senators on both sides wanted a chance to speak first.

A short time later, the Senate agreed by voice vote to take up the proposed rules changes.

One of the proposed changes would permit filibusters to be halted by a majority of the senators, or 51 of the 100 members, and another by three-fifths of the senators voting. At present it takes the votes of two-thirds of the senators voting to limit debate.

At the news conference called by the liberal group, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said "We feel we have a majority for a rules change."

An outpouring of bills hit the Senate when it took time out from the filibuster fight to open shop for regular business.

The top designation of "S. 1," meaning Senate bill No. 1, was assigned to a $389.5 million depressed areas bill. Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., its chief sponsor, said the bill was a top item on President-elect John F. Kennedy's program.

By unanimous consent, the Senate agreed Wednesday to permit the introduction of bills and other routine business starting Thursday.

A Senate aide said senators introduced more than 200 bills Thursday.

In the House, where Democratic leaders are engaged in a backstage tussle over committee organization, bills have been flowing in since opening day. The House was in recess Thursday.

Recommend Tax Cuts, Anti-Recession Steps

NEW YORK (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy Thursday night received study committee recommendations for swift emergency measures to combat the business slump. The group also urged temporary tax cuts if the situation turns a great deal worse in the spring.

A task force appointed by Kennedy to evaluate the state of the economy cautioned, however, against pushing any panic button at this time and calling for a program of massive spending and public works.

Instead, the committee recommended use of a full kit of fiscal and monetary steps in an effort to end the business lag without resort to more drastic procedures.

But the group said bluntly that if conditions should grow seriously worse "a temporary reduction in tax rates on individual incomes can be a powerful weapon against recession." The report added:

"Congress could legislate, for example, a cut of three or four percentage points in the tax rate applicable to every income class, to take effect immediately under our withholding system, in March or April and to continue until the end of the year."

The study committee said further that it would be highly desirable for Congress to grant to the new president the right to continue such a reduction for one or two six-month or three-month periods beyond that time, "with the clear understanding that the reduction will definitely expire by the end of 1962."

Kennedy had no immediate comment on the report. He met with the committee at his Carlyle Hotel headquarters shortly before it was made public.

The task force is headed by Dr. Paul A. Samuelson, economics professor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The president-elect recently voiced concern about what he called a lack of vigor in the American economy. He noted that the Samuelson committee was at work on a study for him, and said at the time that he would make a judgment on what to do about the business lag after he takes office Jan. 20.

The committee report hit indirectly at Eisenhower administration policies and implied that if they had been different, the 1957 recession and the current slump could have been avoided.

No Massive Spending
In recommending emergency short-term measures, the committee sounded what it called this important warning: "It is just as important to know what not to do as to know what to do. What definitely is not called for in the present situation is a massive program of hastily devised public works whose primary purpose is merely that of making jobs and getting money pumped into the economy."

"There is so much that America needs in the way of worthwhile governmental programs, and modern stabilization has so many alternative weapons to fight depression as to make it quite unnecessary to push the panic button and resort to inefficient spending devices."

U. S. Embassy Personnel Leaves Cuba, Returns Home

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Cold, tired and sick of the tension in Fidel Castro's Cuba, 64 United States Embassy personnel arrived here Thursday in response to the dictator's screams to get out of Havana in 48 hours.

"The order Castro gave on television came right off the top of his head and even caught his own Foreign Office by surprise," said Vice Consul Gerald Sutton.

"They had no note prepared for us and it took them some time to prepare it. They apologized to us for the delay."

Sutton said the Cuban militia and army intelligence men are growing more and more ruthless, and he disclosed that a militiaman took a punch at him when he entered his apartment after President Eisenhower broke off diplomatic relations with Cuba.

Rings Isle With Heavy Weapons

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro brought out all available weapons Thursday and placed them around his tense island nation to await what he insists is "an imminent invasion" from the United States.

Blames Ike
His Cabinet kept the diplomatic door open however, to President-elect John F. Kennedy by declaring that "responsibility for the rupture between the United States and Cuba falls entirely on the administration of President Eisenhower."

Hundreds of militia reinforcements poured by train and bus into Santiago, capital of easternmost Oriente Province. Many moved down onto the beaches, but even greater numbers were sent northeast toward Guantanamo City and Songo, outside the U.S. Guantanamo Naval base.

Antiaircraft, antitank and other heavy weapons sprouted all over Havana. Christmas and New Year's festivities still continued, thus the city bore a strange military-holiday air.

Weapons were placed thickly around Seafont Drive. Some anti-aircraft batteries were set up not far from the almost empty U.S. Embassy building, where a dozen diehard Cubans still stood around hopeful of getting visas for admission to the United States.

Claim Ridiculed
The sudden and open display of armament is apparently intended to underscore Castro's charge that a U.S. invasion is coming within two weeks, a charge ridiculed by Washington.

The appearance of the weapons heightened Cuba's invasion fever. All Cuban radio and television stations have been transmitting martial music, old Castro speeches and anti-American slogans around the clock for four days.

The Cabinet statement blaming the Eisenhower administration for the diplomatic break also backed Castro's charge that some U.S. Embassy personnel promoted counterrevolution and terrorism here.

The Cabinet authorized death sentences for any anti-Castro saboteurs and all who help them.

The U.S. charge d'affaires, Daniel M. Braddock, and his skeleton staff clung in packers to help move equipment and files from the embassy.

Arrive In U.S.
As Braddock set about the moving job, 7 of his personnel arrived at West Palm Beach, Fla., after an overnight ferry trip. They said their departure from Havana was smooth and without incident. The embassy staff slept on cots placed in the ferry's eight staterooms.

The embassy offices in Havana, once bright and busy, now have the gloomy look of an abandoned house. Chairs are piled atop desks in the once-crowded visa section, where consuls were interviewing as many as 500 Cuban applicants a day last week.

Only Americans with passports and problems were allowed into the building today.

Farm Leaders To Help JFK Form Policy

NEW YORK (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy turned to the farmers' own organizations Thursday for help in formulating future farm policies.

The incoming chief executive arranged at a conference with a small group of farm leaders for an all-day meeting of farm leaders in Washington Jan. 26.

The Washington meeting will be held with incoming Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman presiding.

Freeman told a news conference following Thursday's session that the farm spokesman who met with Kennedy expressed willingness to help the new administration develop policies designed to bring greater stability to agriculture and to make a broad use of American farm surpluses for economic development abroad.

In the election, Kennedy lost heavily in farm states.

Little Girl Helps UNICEF

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — A little girl who could not be stopped by a broken arm in her desire to help the world's needy children Thursday presented a $1 million check to Maurice Pate, executive director of UNICEF.

The check represented a down payment on monies collected by American boys and girls for the United Nations Children's Fund in their trick-or-treat program last Halloween.

"Is this the biggest check you ever saw?" Pate asked little Gretchen Stump, 10, of Somerset, Pa. Gretchen suffered a broken arm while playing ball at school. She read about children helping other children. She decided that she too wanted to help. Instead of ringing doorbells-Gretchen sent, out foreign recipes and received in return $350 for the children's fund.

The fund aids about 55 million needy children and mothers in over 100 developing countries. For one cent, UNICEF provides vaccine to protect a child from tuberculosis or five glasses of U.S.-donated dried skim milk.

Gretchen's sisters Sudi, 8, and Joni, 7, and her brother John helped her seal and mail the letters.

'Horizons' Debut On WVPO Sunday

"HORIZONS," a new program of local origin, will have its first hearing Sunday from 3 to 4 p.m. on Radio Station WVPO. Four leading educators from the area and five students from local schools will share this first hour of lively discussion.

Resulting from a widespread demand for more area programs of significance, "Horizons" will be dedicated to giving information and developing understanding of the problems of the public educational system of Monroe County.

Educators' Program

"Problems of Administering a Public Supported School System in Our Modern Society" is the topic to be considered during the first half of the hour-long program. Participants in the discussion will be Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, President of East Stroudsburg State College; John C. Litts, Superintendent of Monroe County Schools; Carl Secor, Superintendent of East Stroudsburg Joint Schools and Earl Groner, Superintendent of Stroud Union School District.

The second half hour of "Horizons" will be an airing of opinion on the subject, "The Role of Student Government in Administering School Activities." The five youthful spokesmen will be Keith Drury and Gary Reish from Stroudsburg High School; Kathy Heller and William Stine from East Stroudsburg Senior High School.

Advisory Committee

A Radio Advisory Committee, consisting of prominent educators from the County, meeting with Joseph Whalen of Station WVPO, has set up "Horizons" as a series of Sunday afternoon programs to continue until Spring. A few of the forthcoming topics to be presented are "Psychology in the Modern School," "Curriculum Development," "Languages," and "Physical Education Programs."

Dr. Alfred D. Sumberg of the Social Studies Department of East Stroudsburg State College will be moderator of this Sunday's program, while Joseph Whalen of WVPO will officiate on the Students' half hour. Dr. Sumberg will serve as coordinator of the entire series.

Stroudsburg Lions To Aid Local Lady

STROUDSBURG Lions during their Tuesday night dinner-meeting in the Penn-Stroud Hotel took action to assist a local woman in an emergency where her eyesight is in greatest possible danger.

Eye conservation, one of the prime Lions' projects since the organization of the movement, is one of the services rendered by the club and in this case, immediate action was necessary if the victim's sight were to be saved.

Lion vice president Lester Abloff, who presided, placed the matter before the club. The woman, mother of eight children, was attacked by a rare form of eye trouble thought to be detachment of the retina, and treatment without delay was necessary.

To obtain this it was necessary that she be present at the Wednesday clinic in Wills Eye Hospital, Philadelphia and transportation was the problem.

The parties were without means for transportation and the club was requested to provide a car and driver. Vice President Abloff stated that he would furnish the car but was unable to drive it, as he had to attend a business session in New York during the hours involved. William Hannas, a veteran member of the club, offered to drive and plans were concluded.

WALTER NOMINATES SPEAKER—Rep. Francis E. Walter (Easton, D.), nominated Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) as speaker of the House of Representatives as the 87th Congress got underway at Washington, D.C. Rep. Walter made the nomination as chairman of the Democratic caucus. Walter began his 15th term as a member of the House of Representatives.

S-burg Parking System Was Under Less Meters

STROUDSBURG had 26 less parking meters in operation last year than in 1959, according to a report by the Stroudsburg Parking Authority. At least in part for a $1,000 drop in parking meter revenues in 1960.

There were 570 street meters in operation last year, compared to 596 in 1959.

pared to 585 in 1959. Receipts were $44,958.04 in 1960 to $46,344.06.

Parking Lot 1 had 49 meters in operation during the year just ended, a drop of 11 from the 60 in 1959. Receipts were $3,730.45 last year and $3,892.25 in the previous year.

Parking Lot 2, which had 20 meters in operation during both years, showed an increase in revenue from $686.53 in 1959 to $1,232.60 last year.

Average Collections
Average collections per meter per month were $6.57 in 1960, compared to $6.60 in 1959 for the street meters; $6.68 in 1960 compared to $5.41 in 1959 for Lot 1 and $5.22 in 1960 compared to $2.86 in 1959.

Saylorsburg Post Office Bids Open

REP. FRANCIS E. Walter (Easton-D) and Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Phila.) announced yesterday that bids will be solicited for building a new post office in Saylorsburg.

The space required is 1,251 square feet enclosed net space, 130 square feet platform space and driveway, parking and maneuvering area as indicated on the plans and specifications.

Terms of the lease will be for 10 years with four five-year renewal options.

May Submit
Those interested in bidding should submit their proposals to J. F. Kenyon, regional real estate officer, Room 307-B General Post Office, Phila. 1, no later than March 6, 1961.

New officers of the committee took their respective seats last night. Those taking office were Robert Wright, president; Paul Nauman, first vice president; Theodore Regina, second vice president, and Martin Smith, third vice president.

The office of secretary and treasurer will be open for election in the June meeting. It was unanimously voted by the

State Police Investigating Accident

STATE POLICE of Stroudsburg Barracks investigated the accident of Richard W. Asheimer 24, of Tannersville, yesterday at 8:03 a.m. when he struck a warning barricade and the rear of a parked truck.

Philip McArdle, 49, of Hazleton, an employee of Counties Construction Co., was injured when he saw the car coming and tried to get out of its path. He slipped and fell injuring his back. Police said he was not hit by the car.

McArdle was taken to the Monroe County General Hospital for treatment and released. Asheimer told police he was blinded by the sun and did not see the warning barricade nor the truck as he traveled south on Route 611. He hit the barricade and then the truck.

The accident occurred about four miles north of Stroudsburg in the Bartonsville area where, McArdle, an employee of Counties Construction Company, was placing underground lines for Bell Telephone Co.

Police estimated damages to the truck at $900 and $60 to the Asheimer station wagon. Asheimer was not injured in the accident.

Two-Car Mishap In Eastburg

EAST STROUDSBURG Police investigated a two-car accident yesterday at 2:15 on Washington Street in front of East Stroudsburg National Bank.

Police identified the drivers as Harry F. Andress, Stroudsburg RD 5, driving a taxi owned by Pocono Taxi Co., and Mrs. Dorothy Imbt, Wilmington, Del.

She was driving a late model Chevrolet station wagon. Mrs. Imbt had turned off Crystal Street heading east on Washington Street. She saw the line of traffic waiting for the traffic light at the corner of Washington and Courtland Sts. to change and applied her brakes. At this time she was aware that she had no brakes.

Turns To Avoid
She turned into the west bound lane of traffic to avoid hitting cars. As her vehicle traveled down the street the taxi came around the corner, from Courtland St. heading west on Washington St.

The Imbt vehicle veered to its left in an attempt to miss the taxi but could not get over far enough, police said.

Police estimated the damage to the taxi at $40, which included damage to the right front fender, bumper and grill.

Damages to the Imbt station wagon included right front headlight, bumper and grill. It was estimated at $75 by the police.

MORA Club Will Help 'Y' Drive

MEMBERS of the MORA Club volunteered to assist in the annual YMCA membership drive on Jan. 21 at yesterday's meeting.

A film on causes of accidents in homes, business and on the highways was shown and the birthdays of Fred Bartholomew and Eugene Lefler were observed.

Harry Strunk volunteered to acknowledge a gift to the MORA treasury from Alwin Doering, a former member of the club who now lives in New York State.

The club's foster-child in Korea sent holiday greetings to the club and V. R. Fitzgerald was announced as a new member by President Ashton Burrows.

Hobby Show Report
Arthur Trognar reported on the Hobby Show and William H. Metzgar, secretary, exhibited the club's birthday bank. John R. Wilson, YMCA secretary, provided a New Year's feature.

Rev. Clyde Levergood will speak at next week's meeting on the topic, "A Penny for Your Thoughts." A joint luncheon with the Leisure Hour Club will follow.

Portland Approves Budget

PORTLAND—Borough Council approved a tentative 1961 budget of $11,000 at its meeting Tuesday. Final adoption is scheduled for the February meeting.

Russell Strunk, borough secretary, said no final decision was made on tax millage, but it appears there will be no increase. The rate last year was six mills.

Council announced it will enforce the ordinance requiring snow removal from sidewalks and that if snow is not removed, the borough will have it removed and bill the owner or occupant.

No Parking Signs
No parking signs were approved for Delaware Ave. between Main and State Sts. to facilitate snow removal. Council asked for the cooperation of motorists in keeping their cars off the streets following snow storms and indicated it may enact no parking overnight laws if the cooperation is not forthcoming.

Council received a complaint on shooting of a pet dog and reminded residents there is an ordinance forbidding discharging fire arms within the borough limits.

Hospital Census
Today's score at your hospital:

Adult medical and surgical bed capacity, 88.
Number of patients, 94.
Number of beds short, six.
Persons on waiting list, 10.
Patients in solarium, six.
Patients in hallways, two.

Mrs. Schmoyer Is Elected

TANNERSVILLE — Mrs. Betty Schmoyer was elected president of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Pocono Township Fire Company at the annual banquet-meeting last night in Tannersville Inn.

Others elected for 1961 were Mrs. Bert Saylor, vice president; Mrs. Lucy Angleny, secretary; Mrs. Geraldine Kojer, financial secretary; Mrs. Ruth Howell, treasurer; and Mrs. Lorraine Angleny, chaplain.

Rhodes' Decision Appealed By PUC In Truckers Denial

STATE PUBLIC Utility Commission has appealed to Pennsylvania's Supreme Court a Superior Court decision, written by President Judge Chester H. Rhodes of Stroudsburg, which reversed a PUC denial to six truckers of permits to haul cement in Eastern Pennsylvania. The Superior Court, in reversing the PUC decision on Nov. 16, ordered the commission to grant hauling rights to the trucking firms.

The PUC told the Supreme Court the lower court's ruling was "ambiguous." It contended the economic issues involved are important enough to "deserve and require the close scrutiny of our highest appellate court."

The Superior Court ruled the PUC's denial was "unreasonable" in view of a need for such service.

Would Limit
The court said the PUC order would have limited the cement industry to intrastate shipment of cement entirely by rail, except for existing rights held by three truckers to haul bulk cement only to off-rail delivery points.

The cement industry in eastern Pennsylvania has refused to do business with the three authorized truckers and insists on using the six truckers involved in the case, the PUC said.

Five In Family Killed In Fire

SOMERDALE, N. J. (AP) — Five in a family of seven—three of them children—perished in a fire which swept through their home before daybreak yesterday.

The dead: Leonard Ward, 42, a mechanic employed at the Philadelphia Naval Base; his wife, Mary, 42; and three of their four children, James, 13; Richard, 11, and Mary Ellen, 6.

Leonard Jr., 17, and his maternal grandfather, John Deever, 71, got out through a kitchen door, the eldest boy doing so after he had tried vainly to help the others.

Bountiful Crops

Farmers last year harvested the largest crop in the nation's history, three percent greater than the previous mark set in 1958.

Nature helped by providing unusually favorable weather during the ripening period after a cold Spring in the Central and Eastern states had delayed planting.

Moreover, 1960's record production was raised on the smallest acreage in nearly 50 years. The 59 crops listed by the Agriculture Department came from 329 million acres.

This was about six million fewer acres than 1959. More than eight million acres were lost or abandoned.

The implication of higher output on fewer acres is clear; we don't have to worry about population "explosions" overtaking American agriculture's productive capacity just yet.

Not so clear is why, in the midst of such abundance, retail food prices continue to go higher; or why the federal government continues to foster a disastrous wheat surplus program.

Two Good Years For Lawrence

The four-year term of Governor David L. Lawrence reaches its halfway mark with the end of this year come Saturday. It presents a good time to add up the plus and minus accomplishments and check the results. It is also a good time to look toward the next two years and speculate or predict what they will bring in our state government under the Lawrence administration.

Beset by a hostile GOP-dominated Senate and only a narrow margin of Democratic control in the House, Mr. Lawrence has shown wisdom in his dealings with the Legislature, wisdom born of years of political training. The political maturity that Mr. Lawrence has demonstrated in dealing with his opposition to secure agreements has accomplished far more for the benefit of the citizens of the Commonwealth than did the hostile, critical attitude taken by his Republican and Democratic predecessors toward unfriendly Legislatures.

By the same token, the many public addresses and other moves made by Mr. Lawrence during his first two years have been a welcome change from some of the past administration policies. In addition to using the banquet table as a sounding board for his programs, the Governor has been faithful in meeting with the press weekly and has invited special groups to Harrisburg to explain problems of the state government. All this has been to the good of the citizens of Pennsylvania for it has kept them better informed than ever before of their state government problems and efforts to solve them.

What are some of the other pluses of the first two years of Governor Lawrence's administration?

A major plus mark would be the efforts at better housekeeping in the state government. As one example, his efforts to invest state funds more effectively, as in the case of tax anticipation notes which are offered in $100,000 lots instead of a single lot of many times $100,000. The first effort along this line brought the Commonwealth $533,000 in additional interest and at the same time opened bidding on such notes to Pennsylvania banks instead of limiting it to a single New York financial institution able to handle the over-all total. We have been impressed, too, with his efforts to keep his various departments within their budgets and to effect economies where possible.

Long range planning by a Pennsylvania governor, limited by law to one term, has been rather haphazard in the past, but Mr. Lawrence seems determined to leave for his successor a blueprint for the future development of Pennsylvania. The education study now under way is a good example of some of Mr. Lawrence's long-range planning. Development of state parks, highway programs and his efforts to increase industrial development are others.

The latter three endeavors are tied together with solving Pennsylvania's problem of depressed areas. We appreciate Mr. Lawrence's efforts, but we think that he should give even more attention to the "have-not" counties in these essential economic aids in the next two years. We particularly need a speed-up of the Keystone Shortway construction through this area. Since his administration ties highway construction to available funds, we hope the one-cent gas tax increase will be approved by the Legislature.

We are in thorough agreement with Mr. Lawrence's highway safety program and the general acceptance by the public indicates that most everyone is behind the program. Some phases, such as radar control, are still lacking in approval but we hope that the Legislature will give legal backing to such phases.

With a stronger party control in the House and at least an even division in the Senate, he should have smoother sailing in his final two years. Even so, we do not look for radical, revolutionary programs from the Governor's office. Instead, we look for even better housekeeping on the state government level and a continuing progressive program for the over-all benefit of Pennsylvania and its citizens.

—Clearfield Progress

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Congress Meets

Again the Congress of the United States meets in session to attend to the people's business. This is the realistic center of government.

Congress is a continuous body, two thirds of the Senate remaining in office no matter how many elections are held. The House of Representatives lasts only two years and then has to be re-elected. Both House and Senate committees are continuous and meet at call whenever it is suitable.

The 86th Congress, which went into session on January 3, faces a new President, a new Cabinet, but most of its committee chairmen will be the same by the rule of seniority which is the most convenient rule thus far discovered for such a purpose.

Occasionally, a dumb cluck emerges to the chairmanship of an important committee, but not too often.

A man who has remained in the Congress long enough to become a committee chairman has learned a great deal by experience and has discovered the essence of representative government which is that in a republic the will of no one man can be made to prevail. Republican government is government by compromise.

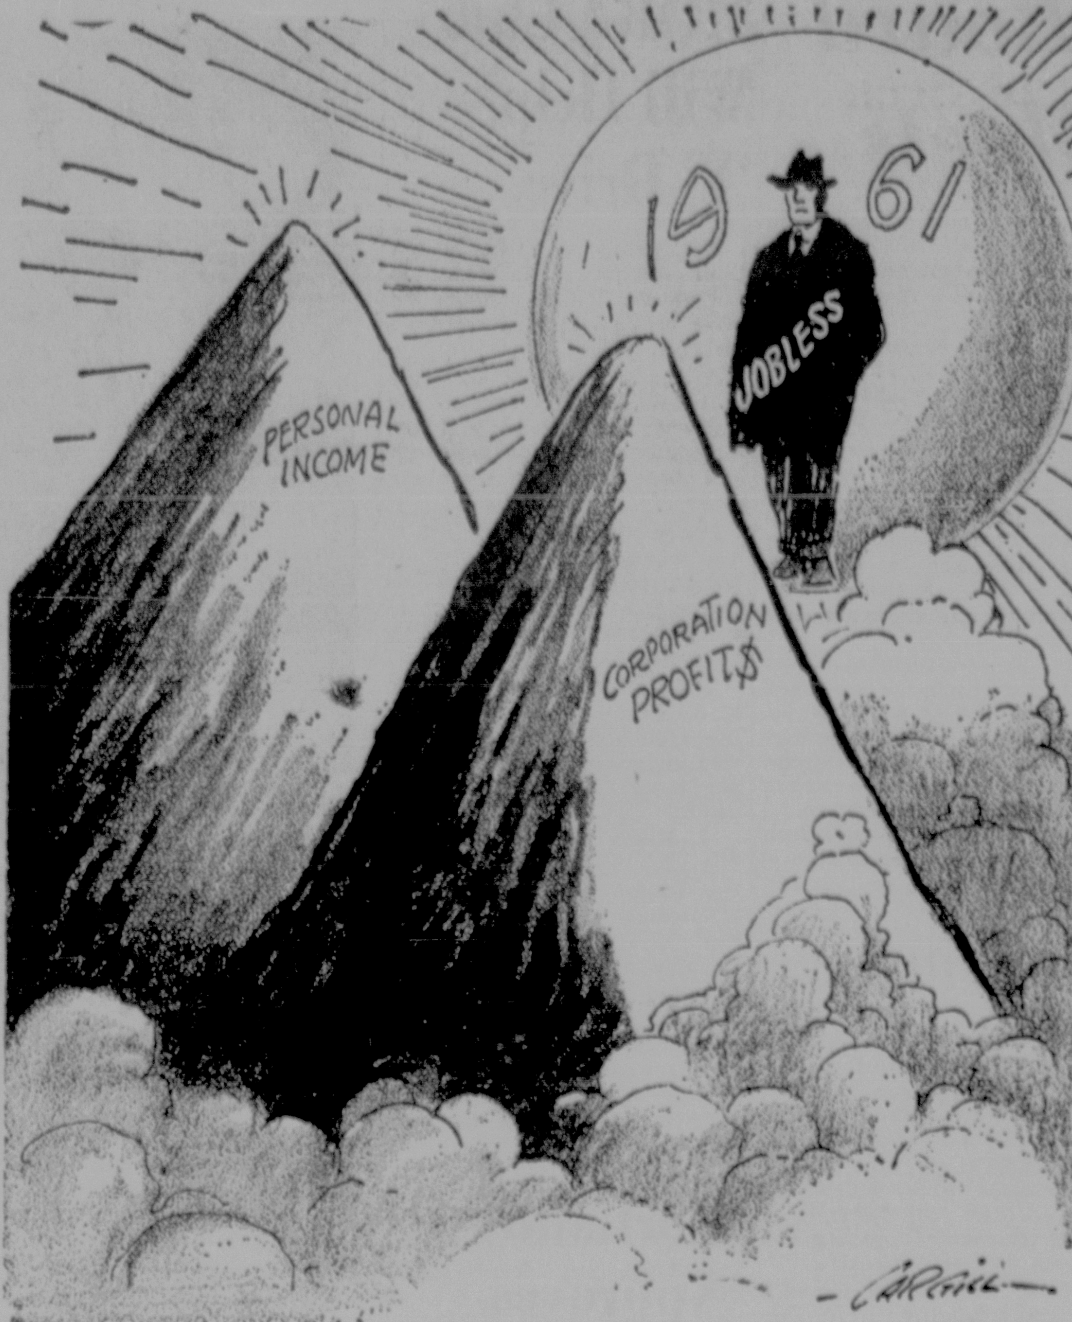

President Kennedy will be inaugurated 17 days after the Congress goes into session. He will be inaugurated by the usual ceremony and excitement. But almost immediately he will send to Congress his long list of appointments, including the members of his Cabinet. These persons will have to be confirmed by the Senate. Usually, there is little fuss about Cabinet officers, the assumption being that a President is entitled to have his own. The American Cabinet is unlike any similar body anywhere. Its members are not political officials. They are literally secretaries to the President, having no political rights of their own. The President may dismiss a Cabinet officer at will.

Cabinet officers do not constitute a government, as they do in Great Britain; they are, to repeat, Presidential assistants. He alone is responsible for the government.

After he is elected, his responsibility is to Congress, which can, under certain conditions, impeach him. But Congress may not re-elect a President; that only the people can do once by choosing electors in each state.

The constitutional system is designed to prevent tyranny, to maintain a representative republic based upon a division of authority and responsibility.

Fever Cool

By Burton H. Fern, M.D.
Doubting Thomas: What do you mean, I worship Mercury? M. D.: Lots of people worship mercury — the mercury in those fever thermometers.

D. T.: Doesn't the thermometer tell when you're sick? M. D.: Not always! Very sick patients may have no fever, while someone with a cold or flu may show 104 or 105 degrees.

D. T.: Then I shouldn't worry about fever? M. D.: Anytime it's over 101 you'd better call the doctor. Also check if it lingers over 100 degrees for more than a day or so.

D. T.: Our doctor's always hours away. What'll I do while I'm waiting? M. D.: Aspirin helps fevers over 101 — unless you're allergic to it.

D. T.: How much? M. D.: Ask your doctor ahead of time. Adults take one or two regular aspirins but older children need only one. Babies under a year can handle one baby aspirin, while other children under five take two baby tablets.

D. T.: But we don't have baby aspirin! M. D.: One quarter of an adult (5 grain) aspirin equals one baby (1 grain) tablet.

D. T.: Then the aspirin makes him better? M. D.: No. It cools him and makes him feel better, but he's still sick.

D. T.: What about high fever? You know — 103 or 104! M. D.: Adults can usually handle it but young children need alcohol sponge baths.

D. T.: I know! You put alcohol on the forehead and chest and then dry.

M. D.: That will only make you hot under the collar. It won't cool the youngster.

Lay the child on a dry towel and stretch the wet one across his chest, abdomen, arms and legs. Cover with another dry towel. The evaporating solution cools him the same way evaporating water cools you after a swim.

Rubbing Sometimes Helps Rubbing his arms and legs brings blood to the surface to cool him faster. But if he's restless, skip this.

Make sure you have good ventilation. Alcohol fumes occasionally make a child dangerously drunk!

D. T.: Won't all this chill him? M. D.: Not as much as straight alcohol or an ice-cold solution. We have to chill him a little — to cool him.

D. T.: Great! Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

Ike's Problem

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott
Washington — President Eisenhower will be faced with a unique personal problem when he leaves the White House on Jan. 20. He must take a special examination in order to obtain his first driver's license.

There is no other alternative for the President, because of his age.

Aides, after making inquiry in Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia, have told the President that driver's license applicants over 65-years-old must take a special examination. President Eisenhower is 70.

The driver's license problem came to light recently when the President, chatting with his staff, said that he planned to purchase a car and drive it himself when he leaves office.

"Do you have a driver's license?" one of the President's aides inquired.

"No, I don't," replied the President. "I forgot about that. I've never owned a license. Maybe, you can tell me how I go about obtaining one."

When the aide said he would make inquiry, the President joked: "Maybe I'm too old."

The President, like other applicants over 65, will take the special examination sometime late next month.

Attractive offers — Immediately after the Kennedy inauguration President Eisenhower plans to fly to Palm Springs, California for rest and golf.

After a four to six weeks vacation, the President will return to Washington, where he plans to rent an apartment. He will make the Capitol and his Gettysburg, Pa., farm his home bases.

President Eisenhower is considering writing memoirs and observations of various kinds as well as doing some world traveling after he leaves the White House.

Already, he has received two very attractive writing offers.

One proposal comes from a nationally known magazine. It offers $300,000 for his memoirs during the eight years he spent in the White House.

The other offer is from a news syndicate. It calls for the President to write a monthly article similar to that turned out by former President Truman.

The President won't suffer from lack of funds if he doesn't accept either proposal. He will have income (estimated at $25,000 a year) from an irrevocable trust, as well as a $25,000 presidential pension plus expense money which could run up to $30,000.

In addition, there is a move in Congress to restore his five-star general rank, which would give him another $25,000. The President resigned his commission when he was elected president, saying it was one of the most regretted acts of his life.

If the five-star rank were restored, the President would have an office in the Pentagon and a small staff. He could then be subject to call for special duties.

President-elect Kennedy has told President Eisenhower that he may ask him to take on special assignments — and one of these under consideration is of a military nature.

President Eisenhower, who has not held a press conference since before the election, plans only one more public session with newsmen before the end of his term unless some special circumstance comes up. Also, he is refusing to grant individual interviews to reporters before he leaves the White House.

The wind-up — President Eisenhower's final budget will propose that five new reclamation projects be started in the West. In the last two years the administration proposed no new starts, although Congress initiated 17 new projects. GOP congressional leaders claim that the new projects reflect a fulfillment of a campaign pledge made by Vice President Nixon that new reclamation starts would be in the President's final budget.

Efforts by Stewart L. Udall, President-elect Kennedy's choice for Secretary of the Interior, to examine the Eisenhower budget for the Interior Department have been stalled by Interior Secretary Fred Seaton. Seaton told a Udall aide that the administration budget is held in confidence until public release later this month. He added, however, that if Udall had a specific question, permission to inspect that part of the budget should be made to the White House.

President Eisenhower now believes that he should have been called on sooner to campaign for Vice President Nixon. He has been telling GOP legislators, "If they (Nixon's campaign managers) had used me in the campaign sooner, I believe Dick would have won."

Corps Commander Cited For Army Meritorious Duty

INDIANTOWN GAP — In recognition of his meritorious service, Colonel Carl F. Chirico, Commander of the XXI US Army Corps Sector with headquarters in Wilmington, Del., was awarded the Second Oak Leaf Cluster to the Army Commendation Medal at Corps Headquarters here, recently.

A veteran of some 23 years active Army service, the Colonel retired on Dec. 31.

Maj. General Ralph C. Cooper, XXI Corps Commander, presented the award to the Colonel and cited him for his outstanding performance and devotion to duty.

'60 Army Recruiting Year Tops

SGT. Donald K. Smith, local Army recruiter, announced yesterday that 1960 was his best year for recruiting in this area. A total of 81 men and women were enlisted during the year.

Of the total, 15 had prior service in one of the branches of service, and 66 had no prior military service.

A breakdown shows three women entered Woman's Army Corps, one was accepted as a security agent; 17 in one of the guaranteed schools; 40 in career group; three in the airborne, 11 entered the regular Army unassigned; two in the air defense command; three for duty in Europe; and one assigned to Valley Forge Hospital.

Sgt. Smith added that with the guaranteed programs the Army is now offering he expects 1961 to be even a greater year than 1960.

In addition, he expressed the congratulations and well-wishes of the Corps staff for his continued success in the future.

"Leadership"

In the citation accompanying the award, which was read by Colonel R. B. Franks, Corps Adjutant General, the Colonel was cited for "... his affirmative leadership and exceptional talent for organization and management ...". The citation continued by stating, in part: "... His willing contribution of time and ability toward the accomplishment of community projects and his tactful coordination with civic leaders and officials of federal, state and local government materially contributed to the development of an outstanding military - community relationship. His selfless and complete dedication to the Army Reserve Program is worthy of emulation."

Assigned to the XXI Corps since its activation in September of 1957, Colonel Chirico had previously been Chief and Senior Army Advisor of the US Army Military District, Delaware since June of 1955. As Sector Commander, the Colonel is responsible for supervising Army Reserve and Army ROTC activities in Delaware, Eastern Pennsylvania and the Delmarva Peninsula.

Pennsylvania Demos Seen Not Picqued

WASHINGTON (AP) — Are Pennsylvania Democrats piqued because none of their own is in President-elect Kennedy's cabinet?

Positively no, says Rep. William J. Green, the Philadelphia party leader whose zeal gave Kennedy a thumping victory in the Keystone State in November.

Would not that victory in itself entitle a Pennsylvanian to a place in the top circle?

In answer to that question, Green today fired back: "No. There wasn't anything we wanted."

Philadelphia's 331,000 majority for Kennedy, assuring him the state's 32 electoral votes, made Green one of the most powerful Democratic politicians in Pennsylvania. His name was thrust to the fore as a possibility for postmaster-general or national chairman.

What's Job?

"After all, what's a cabinet job?" said Green. "We've had Tom Gates down here as secretary of defense in the Eisenhower administration, and what did it mean for us?"

"What did he get for us? Nothing. We went to his office to save jobs in the Philadelphia navy yard and in the Frankford arsenal and we didn't get anything."

Thomas S. Gates, Jr., retiring secretary of defense and formerly secretary of the navy, is a Philadelphia investment banker.

As Green sees it, "He might as well have come from Oshkosh."

Green indicated another reason why Pennsylvania Democrats aren't especially interested in cabinet places is that most of the party's top leaders hold elective offices they don't want to give up.

Termed Excellent

These include besides Green himself, Gov. David Lawrence, Sen. Joseph S. Clark, Mayor Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia and Mayor Joseph M. Barr of Pittsburgh.

So Green called Kennedy cabinet choices excellent and let it go at that.

Keystonians In Washington

By JOHN KOENIG JR.
Associated Press Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Elmer H. Holland D-Pa., is working on a comprehensive report on the effects of automation on unemployment.

When completed, the report will be presented to President-elect John F. Kennedy.

"I hope to have it ready before Jan. 20—in-inauguration day," Holland said.

He said the report will recommend that the House Labor Committee make a thorough investigation with a view to tailoring legislation to help ameliorate the problems caused by automation.

Holland, who is a member of the labor committee, said he wants to see the handling of automation problems kept separate from the distressed areas problem and prospective legislation in that field.

"They're not at all the same thing," he said.

She reports that the election of Sen. John F. Kennedy as president has brought almost a record-breaking barrage of letters to

Lectured

Rep. Leon H. Gavin R-Pa., was lectured facetiously by Rep. Michael J. Kirwan, D-Ohio, this week for not attending the groundbreaking ceremony at the site of the $119 million dam at Kinzua, Pa., in October.

Kirwan, a member of the House Appropriations Committee, told Gavin jokingly outside the House chamber that if he had known Gavin would not be there he would not have voted for this year's 4 1/2 million dollar appropriation for the dam, which lies in Gavin's district.

Gavin was ill at the time of the groundbreaking.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Release of the list of the "Ten Best Dressed" women last night suddenly reminded me that the Couture Group fashion shows are coming up next week in New York and that your fashion reporter, pro tem, has literally nothing to wear.

It's not that we've all been wearing fig leaves around here this winter but high style in the Stroudsburgs ever since Thanksgiving has been snow boots, leotards or woolen knee socks, woolen slacks, sweaters and head scarves.

It is not the most becoming wear in the world but infinitely more so than turning blue or growing fur than which seems to be the only alternatives possible this weather. Besides, the more padding you have on the less likely you are to bruise when you fall on the ice — which stretches like a frozen polar sea, complete with waves and billows, over vast areas.

Anyway, it's gone on so long that I'm afraid to unbuckle for fear of catching my death of cold — a fear that goes back to my childhood, I suppose, when we had to wear long underwear long past the season when it was comfortable for fear of a sudden cold snap.

and also to my battles with my own children over whether or not they had to wear their snow pants to school. It's not that I expect to compete with Mrs. Kennedy or Queen Sirikit since I only report high fashion — not wear it.

But I'm afraid in my present get-ups I'd be mistaken for the fashion correspondent of the Igloo Independent and be offered nothing but blubber to eat.

Miss Beverly Ann Wagner Bride Of Robert W. Farleigh

Bangor—Miss Beverly Ann Wagner, granddaughter of Mrs. Hattie Wagner, of 308 Pennsylvania Ave., Bangor, was married on Dec. 31 at 11 a.m. in the First Methodist Church of Bangor, to Robert William Farleigh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Farleigh of Bangor RD 3.

Rev. Howard Reeves Jr., performed the ceremony with Mrs. Cornell Wallwork as organist and William Brown soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, Stanley T. Wagner, the bride wore a gown of hand-clipped Chantilly lace with a scalloped sabbina neckline re-embroidered with sequin and pearls. The bouffant skirt ended in a chapel train. A crown of aurora borealis crystals held her veil of silk tulle.

Miss Gaybelle Ott of Mount Bethel was maid of honor. She wore a gown of emerald green velvet with matching headpiece and carried a cascade bouquet of red and white carnations. Mrs. Alfred Markovitz, of Pen Argil, and Miss Susan Padula of 220 North Sixth St., Bangor, as bridesmaids wore similar gowns of emerald green velvet and carried cascade bouquets of red carnations.

Miss Carolee Ann Farleigh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Farleigh of Bangor RD 3, was flower girl. She wore a dress of white nylon and lace and carried a birdcage filled with white carnations.

Jeffrey Markovitz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Markovitz was ring bearer.

Serving as best man was Wayne Oyer of Central Ave., East Bangor. Ushers were Glenwood Pysker, of Bangor and Stanley Wagner, Pen Argil.

A reception was held in the recreation room of the church.

They are both graduates of Bangor Area Joint High School. The bride is attending Empire Beauty Culture School and is employed at Heyer Products Inc., Bangor.

The bridegroom is serving under the Asst. Secretary of the United States Army Engineer School, Fort Belvoir, Va.

Mrs. Kennedy Landslides To Best-Dressed Victory

New York (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy has been elected the First Lady of world fashion and, unlike her husband, she won in a landslide.

The New York Couture Group, Inc., which annually asks some 2,500 style experts and society leaders to pick the world's 12 best-dressed women, said the First Lady-elect of the United States went to the top of the list by "an overwhelming majority."

It was young Mrs. Kennedy's first appearance on the list.

Another wife of a head of state — incumbent, not incoming — also appeared on the list for the first time.

She is pretty young Queen Sirikit of Thailand, who amazed New York with the muted perfection of her costumes when she visited here last year.

There are now so many "best-dressed" women on the world scene that the couture group has increasing difficulty in selecting the "top."

Metzgar-Ardinger Engagement

Mrs. Althea Ardinger of Monroe St., Stroudsburg, announces the engagement of her daughter, Clara Ellen to William Metzgar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Metzgar, of East Stroudsburg. Miss Ardinger's father was the late Joseph Ardinger.

The bride-to-be is a graduate of Stroudsburg High School in the class of 1959. Mr. Metzgar was graduated from Stroudsburg High School in 1953. They are both employed by Patterson-Kelley Co., East Stroudsburg.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Sisterhood Outlines Busy Event Schedule

At the first meeting of the new year, the Sisterhood of the Temple Israel this week outlined plans for an active season.

The next "package deal" sponsored by the ways and means committee will be held Jan. 28 as an audience participation program under the direction of Mrs. Lawrence Green.

The committee has also scheduled a Cabaret Night to be held May 4. Dr. Seymour Pollan, director, has asked volunteers to call him.

Special feature at the February meeting of the Sisterhood will be a paid-up membership dinner with Mrs. Sumar Schwartz as chairman and Mrs. Jack Weitzman presenting a skit.

Climax of the year will be the Spring Fashion Show "Fashions and Ballads" on March 15 featuring fashions from Herb's His 'N Her shop, commentary by Sally Ferber, and piano music by Dick Matlock. Mrs. Jules Steinberg and Mrs. Sol Rothstein will be co-chairmen.

Mrs. Seymour Pollan and Mrs. Maurice Flesher, co-chairmen of the December Chanukah Dinner reported it had been both a social and financial success.

Hostesses at the meeting were Mrs. Sam Blicik, Mrs. Marvin Ehrlich and Mrs. Samuel Ellaweig.

Another coming event will be the Birthday Sabbath sponsored by the B'nai B'Rith youth organization, Oneg Shabbat, to be held on Jan. 20.

By Jet to California

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Palmer, Scott St., Stroudsburg have returned from a trip to California where they visited Mr. Palmer's brother, Robert Palmer, whom they had not seen in so many years that the brothers failed to recognize each other. They flew by jet each way and were enthusiastic about the trip and the California climate.

The Wyckoff Shopper

"The Friendly Store"
A.B. Wyckoff
STROUDSBURG, PA.

During my broadcast of Tuesday, I commented that all of us were becoming a bit weary of winter and would welcome the first robin and the first crocus. As soon as the program went off the air, Lydia Getz called me to the telephone, and I was greeted by the cheery voice of Mrs. Lillian Harrison from King street, East Stroudsburg. "You mentioned robins," she said. "Well, there are four in my backyard right this minute. At first I assumed they were starlings—then I saw their red breasts. They're beautiful."

It was the best news I'd heard in a long time, and I am glad to see by my newspaper this morning (Wednesday) that they're still there. Wonder if they lost their calendar . . . their way . . . or their interest in life? I shall shiver for them every time I stuff more paper into the cracks of the windows, add another blanket to my bed, or button my coat collar a bit higher as I plod down the hill to work. But maybe they don't need my pity. Maybe they are a hardy lot of pioneers who would head for Alaska if only they had a map!

If you like antiques . . . or even if you don't . . . you might pause to consider that everything of any importance in the world is an antique in its own right, so old and so rare it is beyond any value one might try to place upon it. I'm speaking of such things as friendship . . . courage . . . and love.

Love is not only an emotion that makes the world go 'round . . . it is the evergreen sentiment that inspires Hallmark to put out a fascinating new line of Heirloom Valentines for delivery February 14th. No sooner had our Christmas and New Year cards been packed away here at Wyckoff's than these Valentines made their appearance . . . and they are so lovely, so flowery, and pulsating I imagine they'll have a very eager audience. Those I saw are 1.00, although there may be others at 50c. They pull down to open, and then stand with festoons, angels, and in some cases fluted paper, in evidence.

These are Valentines similar to those I received and threw away by the dozen when I was ten or twelve . . . and undoubtedly I sent many of them also, for at that time they sold for ten cents. Today if I were to receive one, I'd probably frame it in a red velvet shadow box and hang it over my bed. Inflation may have raised the cost of love . . . but it's heart-warming to know that the sentiment hasn't changed much, and that the old methods of expressing it are now back in vogue.

Wonder if you've noticed that some of the children's classics are now making their appearance in paper covers priced at only 25c? While the more rough and ready children will probably rip them apart after one reading, I think it a wonderful idea, for they put good literature into the hands of boys and girls for the price of a comic book. Some of those on view in our book department are "The Prince and the Pauper," "Tom Sawyer," "Toby Tyler," "Treasure Island," "Children's Stories from Dickens," "Favorite Fairytales" and "Black Beauty."

Flood Proposes Distressed Area Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Daniel J. Flood, D-Pa., yesterday proposed new distressed areas legislation he expects President-elect John F. Kennedy to support.

Flood said a similar $38.5 million bill would be introduced in the Senate by Sen. Paul Douglas D-Ill.

The Pennsylvania congressman said Kennedy's intention originally was to have an administration bill introduced when Kennedy took over Jan. 20 as president.

"However, we felt that we would lose a great deal of momentum that way and we decided to introduce our bills today," Flood said.

Introduction of his measure, said Flood, was in keeping with his promise to present a new distressed areas bill "on the first minute of the first hour of the first day of the first session in 1961."

He said he felt the new bill would be passed speedily in this Congress and be signed into law. He said the measure basically is the same as the two bills passed by Congress and vetoed by President Eisenhower in 1958 and 1960.

Governor Airs Views On Basin

GOV. DAVID L. Lawrence said yesterday he has been consulting with officials of other states, including Mayor Robert Wagner of New York, in an effort to effect an interstate compact to conserve the water supply of the Delaware River and to project the plan into the future.

He reminded newsmen of the earlier administration of Gov. John S. Fine. During that period, the Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin came up with a five-state plan.

Four Agree The legislatures of four states agreed to it, but Fine appointed the Pennsylvania Water Resources Committee which recommended against joining the interstate pact.

Its own recommendations were rejected as unsound and so the problem is still unsolved.

The governor left no doubt he regards an adequate water supply as vital. He expects to get permanent results this time, not only on the Delaware Valley, but also on the Susquehanna River and other streams.

Safety Official To Aid Cat

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Pittsburgh Safety Director Louis Rosenberg plans going to the city's uptown section this morning to see about getting a cut out of a tree.

Rosenberg and William McCourt, superintendent of the Animal Rescue League, will tackle the problem of how to get "Tinkie" off her perch in the top of a shaky poplar tree 60 feet above ground.

"Tinkie," owned by Mrs. Pearl Johnson, has been in the tree since last Friday night.

"We can't sleep nights," said a neighbor, Mrs. Dominic Celli. "Everytime we close our eyes we hear his cries and can just picture it up there."

Another neighbor, Walter Chapman, almost got the cat down Wednesday. Chapman went to the third floor roof of his home, put food in a basket, attached it to some poles and cautiously moved it toward "Tinkie." The cat climbed into the basket.

"But the pole wobbled so that the cat got scared and jumped back onto the tree," said Chapman.

Animal Rescue League workers have been on the scene several times. But they say it looks impossible to get fire equipment near the tree, which sets at the rear of the houses.

"We'll see if it's impossible," said Rosenberg. "I am concerned about this cat."

Dear Abby

Give Her Acid Test

Dear Abby: My wife is 40 and I am 41. We have 2 children. My wife has had me believing for 22 years that she couldn't drive a car. I had to drive her everywhere she wanted to go.

Now get this. I just found out from a very reliable source that she has been driving 20 miles once a week to meet a certain man while she was supposed to be doing the marketing by bus. I am shocked and sick because a sweeter wife never lived. She was a perfect mother and I never came home to find her gone. What do you think I should do?

IN A DAZE

Dear In: Ask her if the story is true. (Not all "reliable sources" are reliable). If she's been living a double life, put aside your own hurt and bitterness and do what is best for your family. Forgive her. And having forgiven her—don't mention it again.

Dear Abby: I am a young man who is five feet, five inches tall. I am marrying a girl who is exactly my height in her stocking feet. When we would go anywhere she'd wear flats because it bothered her to be a little taller than I. It never bothered me, and for my part, she could have worn high heels. We are being married soon, and she wants to wear high heels for the wedding. This is fine with me, but here's the catch. She wants ME to get a pair of phony elevated shoes. I told her I wouldn't do it. Do you think I am wrong?

FIVE FEET FIVE

Dear Five: No. I think you're right. If she wants to start her married life on the level, tell her to come down to earth. But don't surrender your masculinity by inches.

Dear Abby: My problem is people who "drop by" just before dinnertime and hang around waiting to be invited to join you for dinner.

Well, this "friend" pulled that hanging around stunt once too often. We usually eat at 6:30, but I waited until 7:30. The children even complained (in front of him) that they were hungry, but he didn't move.

I finally asked him if he had his dinner. He said, "No." So I said, "Well, you had better go home and get it because we are eating now." He left and we haven't seen him since. Was I too blunt?

NOBODY'S FOOL

Dear Nobody's Fool: Slightly. You could have achieved the same result by saying, "Will you please excuse us while we have our dinner?" The man may have little sense, but he probably has feelings.

Confidential To Tommy: The mental cases most difficult to cure are those people who are "crazy" about themselves.

7th-Day Adventists Aides Of Publishers Plan Meet

MOUNT POCONO—Seventh-day Adventist publishing house representatives from seven eastern states and the District of Columbia will meet Monday through Wednesday at the High Point Inn here for their annual convention of the Publishing Department of the Columbia Union Conference of the denomination.

More than 225 delegates from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Ohio, Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, and Washington, D. C., will attend the parley.

The convention here will mark the first time that the annual convention has been held at a place other than Washington, D. C. Regional headquarters for the church and the denomination's publishing house are located in Takoma Park, outside of Washington, D. C.

The convention will be directed by Bruce M. Wickwire, secretary of the publishing department of the Columbia Union Conference of Adventists. He met with a smaller group of publishing officials in November at the High Point Inn to plan the January conference. The complete facilities of the Inn will be used and the overflow will be housed in motels nearby.

Main Speakers

Main speakers will include Irvin H. Irlitz, of Nashville, Tenn., manager of the Southern Publishing Association; D. A. Bailey, an associate in the Book department of the Review and Herald Publishing Association, Washington, D. C.; Lewis E. Lenheim, of Takoma Park, Md., President of the Columbia Union Conference of Adventists;

T. Roy Gardner, of Takoma Park, Md., secretary-treasurer of the Columbia Union Conference of Adventists; Neal C. Wilson, of Takoma Park, Md., secretary of the Religious Liberty Department of the Columbia Union Conference of Adventists; S. L. Clark, of Washington, D. C., director of sales, Life and Health magazine, and Wickwire.

Virginia Without Football Coach Or Win

THE UNIVERSITY of Virginia has been without a football coach for a month and without a football victory for almost three years.

The coach problem will probably be taken care of by Wednesday—the win department will have to wait at least nine months for a change.

Dick Voris, who coached Virginia for three years, resigned from the Cavalier post at the end of the past season. He put together a something less than spectacular 1-29 record during his stay at Charlottesville and 28 of the losses came in a row, tying the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. record for the longest losing streak. Kansas State is the co-holder.

The Virginia job will most likely be decided next week, when the American Football Coaches Assn. holds a three day meeting in Pittsburgh. The coaches' convention is the usual bargaining ground for coaches and employers.

Guepe May Get Another Call

Art Guepe, present Vanderbilt coach, is the man, who supposedly will get the Virginia job. If he does take the post it will be his second time at Charlottesville. He turned the job over to Ben Martin, now with the Air Force Academy in 1956.

Voris came to Virginia in the spring of 1957. He had been an assistant coach to Col. Red Blaik at West Point.

Voris installed a pro-type passing offense during his September drills and kept the new weapon off the sports pages by jokingly threatening newsmen.

"If you expose what I'm planning," Voris warned, "I'll clam up during the season but if you keep my secret I'll go out of my way to get you what you want."

Voris Tipped Reporters Himself

The newsmen went along with Voris and in return were tipped to anything but in the Virginia football set-up by phone calls from Voris. And after every Virginia game, Voris spent half an hour in the press-box answering questions.

Virginia had a good passing quarterback in Voris' first year Reece Whitely from Conshohocken and one of the best receivers in the country in Umo (Sonny) Randle, who was second in pass catching in the National Football League this past season with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Randle, finished his senior year at Virginia as the number two pass receiver in the nation. A 9.6 sprinter, he was first in punt and kickoff returns.

But besides Whitely and Randle, Voris had little. So it was out of necessity that Voris developed the passing game.

He previewed his new attack against Clemson, the pre-season choice to win the Atlantic Coast Conference title. Whitely and Randle teamed for 12 completions. But Clemson had no real reserves for the Cavaliers and won 25-12—the first loss for Voris.

Only Win Was Against Duke

The following week Voris earned his only win at Virginia. With a tornado blowing around the edges of the Cavaliers' Scott Stadium, Whitely and Randle built their own tornado and swept past Duke 15-12. It was one of the few times that Virginia had ever beaten the Blue Devils. It was also Voris' first and last win at Virginia.

The losing string that Virginia built after the Duke win, was not entirely Voris' fault.

Virginia, regardless of what the Ivy League claims, has one of the highest set of academic standards among football playing schools. The Ivy League, which plays a less than major schedule, can recruit players, who might not be able to play big time football but have the academic ability to stay in school.

Face A Major School Schedule

Virginia, which has to bump heads with North Carolina, Duke, Clemson, Maryland and several other big time independent schools, must not only recruit top grade players but has to find players with exceptional academic ability. And once the player is at Virginia the problem is keeping him there. It is a rare season when a Virginia team does not lose a player or two because of athletic difficulty.

And the Virginia coaches must also put up with a party-minded alumni group that feels the coach should spend the night before a game sipping a few drinks with the old grads. At Virginia a coach either by-passes the booze (and loses his job) or shows up for Saturday's game with a hang-over.

The Virginia faculty is freely dotted with blue-noses, who feel football players should maintain a higher scholastic average than non-athletes. A situation that caused many of Voris' players to miss practices because they needed extra study time.

Virginia did not loose because Voris was a poor coach. Virginia lost because Voris could not find ball-players who could throw like Baugh, kick like Groza and run like Van Buren, with a slide-rule dangling from the belt of their football pants and a set of chemistry notes in their helmets.

Dutchman Quits Eagles; Wants To Coach Only

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Quarterback Norm Van Brocklin severed relations with the Philadelphia Eagles Thursday after a rather cryptic conversation with Frank McNamee, president of the National Football League champions.

Van Brocklin said he told McNamee in reply to flat questions that (1) He would not play again, and (2) He wasn't interested in being a player-coach. McNamee did not say what kind of coaching job he had in mind. He made no offer, Van Brocklin said.

Clears Way

The meeting between the two apparently cleared the way for the Eagles to name Assistant Coach Nick Skorich as successor to Buck Shaw who retired as head coach after the Eagles beat the Green Bay Packers for the NFL title last month. Van Brocklin had been considered a candidate for the job.

Van Brocklin

The 34-year-old quarterback said the sum of his conversation with McNamee was that he (Van Brocklin) was through with the Eagles unless he remained an active player. McNamee gave Van Brocklin permission to negotiate with other clubs. The Minnesota Vikings and the New York Giants are in the market for a head coach.

Head Coach Only

Van Brocklin, whose passing led the Eagles to the Eastern Conference title and the NFL championship, said he was interested only in a head coaching job in the NFL. If he can't land such a job he plans to go home to Oregon. He said he has several good offers out of football.

McNamee, in an official statement, said, "We are losing a great quarterback. He did an outstanding job with the Eagles. He was of great importance to the team and all football."

Stith Gains In Hoop Point Race

Tom Stith of St. Bonaventure, runner-up last season to Oscar Robertson as the national collegiate basketball scoring champion, is pressing Frank Burgess of Gonzaga for the lead.

Statistics from the NCAA Service Bureau Thursday showed Stith was averaging 31.3 points a game, compared with 31.3 for Burgess. The figures are for games through Jan. 3.

Stith scored 34 points as St. Bonaventure was beaten for the first time this year, 84-82 by Ohio State in the final game of the Holiday Festival in New York. Burgess scored only 17 points Tuesday night against Whitworth, cutting his average sharply.

Chilton Gains

Tom Chilton of East Tennessee State also moved up, boosting his average from 28.4 to 30.3. Two others, Bill McGill of Utah and All America Jerry Lucas of Ohio State, made big gains. McGill advanced from eighth to fourth with a 27.2 average and Lucas from 11th to seventh with 25.3.

Pro Golf Tour Opens

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sunny weather is promised for the $45,000 Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament, good news for golfer Arnold Palmer and his professional partners.

Thursday's feature was a pro-amateur 18-hole event for a $5,000 purse. It attracted numerous celebrities and tournament patrons paired off with the pros.

Palmer heads a field of 154 which tees off in the first round of the 35-year-old event Friday at Rancho Golf Club.

Except for semiretired Sam Snead, who has not played in the Los Angeles Open for several years, every name pro in the game is entered.

Dentith Lost To ESSC Mat Team

EAST STROUDSBURG State College's wrestling team goes after its second win tomorrow at 2 p.m. against Montclair State at Normal Hill.

A junior varsity match between the two schools will begin at 1.

The Warriors will be without their number one 147-pounder Charlie Dentith. Dentith broke his elbow in practice Thursday and is finished for the season. Dentith, who won the State College conference crown in 1955 has a difficult time getting back into shape after several years in the Navy and has dropped his only two matches this year.

Dentith is the second Warrior lost because of injuries. In the opening bout against Lincoln, 137-pounder Don Schleicher dislocated his elbow. There is a chance Schleicher may get back in action later in the season.

Warrior coach Jim Reed plans to use unbeaten Ken Niekischer at 123 pounds Saturday, with George Kahal, 130; Stan Woods, 137; Bud Lawrence, 147; Pat Rock, 157; Mel Williams, 167; John Topher, 177 and Jan Bellevue, heavyweight.

State Class B Hoop Title Game May Be '60 Repeater

By FRED WALTERS

HARRISBURG (AP)—Montrose High School was the Cinderella team of the PIAA playoffs last year.

The Dist. 12 entry came through the eastern class B playoffs unscathed, beating favored Columbia of Dist. 3 for the regional title.

In the state final, Wampum, the western and WPIAL champ, was a little too much for the eastern champs, walking off the court with the state "B" title, 57-51.

March is still a long way off, but it wouldn't be too surprising to see these two teams meet again for the "B" title this year.

Wampum, with a veteran team, has won its first five games in WPIAL Section 20 this year.

Won Tourney

Montrose, led by 5-foot-9 senior Tim Canfield, also has an experienced club, one which won the Christmas Invitational Tournament at Onondaga, N. Y., last week. Although last year's starting five has graduated, coach Starn-Bernosky has four seniors, five juniors and a sophomore, all with previous varsity experience, on this year's squad.

Athens Coach Tom Jones, whose team also participated in the Oneonta tournament, called Montrose one of the best-balanced and smoothest teams he has seen.

Still, Montrose will have considerable competition for eastern honors, assuming it wins its own district title.

NCAA May Get Absolute Power

By HUGH FULLERTON

Associated Press Sports Writer
PITTSBURGH (AP) — More than 2,000 leaders in college athletics gather here Friday for an annual series of meetings that will be marked this year by one more step in the progress of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

clation from a rules-making to a law-making body.

Actually, the NCAA has been making laws concerning the conduct of athletics for more than a decade.

This year it is proposed to incorporate in the NCAA constitution a statement of policy that NCAA legislation shall apply to "basic athletic issues such as admissions, financial aid, eligibility and recruiting" and that member colleges are obliged to observe the rules.

Spell Out

This merely spells out what has been in effect, resulting in penalties to about 100 colleges since 1952. A half dozen institutions still are on probation, mainly for violations concerning recruiting and financial aid.

Proposed legislation is expected to stiffen the rules by applying a "pre-registration" law which would forbid a college to approach an athlete who has signed a certificate saying he intends to enter another. A national transfer rule and several other lesser laws also are on the docket.

Also up for discussion are various questions of premature signing of college athletes by professional football and baseball clubs.

The week of meetings opens Friday with committee sessions of the American Association of College Baseball Coaches, one of eight associated groups that meet at the same time as the NCAA.

The NCAA Executive Committee and Council meet Saturday and Sunday to prepare for the general sessions next week.

All Highs Have League Games Today

FOR THE first time this season, all area high schools play league basketball games tonight.

Stroud Union is at Cata-sauqua in a Lehigh Valley game, East Stroudsburg goes to Coplay and Pen Argyl is at Bangor in the Lehigh-Northampton League, while Southern Wayne hosts Waymart in the Wayne County League. Delaware Valley is at Pleasant Valley, Tobyhanna Twp. travels to Coolbaugh and Barrett is at Pocono Twp. in the Pocono Mountain League.

Stroud Union, a 66-64 winner over Lehighton Tuesday in the Mounties' league opener, will be facing last year's loop champion, in the Cata-sauqua Rough Riders. But it has been rough riding for Cata-sauqua, which has not posted a win in seven outings this season.

Mounties Even

Stroud Union has a 3-3 overall mark and is 1-0 in league play. The Mounties are in a four-way tie for first place in the league.

East Stroudsburg, which has lost all seven of its games, six of them league affairs, can climb out of the Lehigh-Northampton cellar tonight by beating Coplay, which is also winless.

Bangor, 2-2 in loop play, after winning its first two games, has been following the old saying—"And when they were good, they were very, very good but when they were bad, they were horrid."

Both of Bangor's wins were last season's victories but in their last game, against Parkland, the Slayers managed only 24 points.

Stags Favored

Southern Wayne, tied with Lake Ariel for the Wayne County lead, is a slight favorite to beat Hawley and stay in the lead. When Bob Strupcwski and Jordan Debus have good nights, it is hard to beat the Stags, who have lost only one game this year.

Pocono Twp. and Delaware Valley are the possible spoilers for tonight's Pocono Mountain League games. Pleasant Valley and Barrett are tied for first place in the

Sears Has Broken Jaw

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Kenneth Sears, New York's third best scorer, suffered a fractured jaw in a fight Thursday night as the Knicks edged Detroit 104-102 in the first game of a National Basketball Association double-header.

The fight between Sears and George Lee of the Pistons broke out just before New York broke the lead late in the third period and held it. Only a few punches were exchanged after some pushing and shoving during close play in the pivot spot, but Sears left the game with a bloody mouth. At a hospital, an x-ray showed the jaw was fractured.

State's Northwest Counties Seek Economic Assistance

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Representatives from 11 northwestern Pennsylvania counties on Thursday adopted resolutions urging the federal government to help improve their economic situation.

Adoption of the resolutions climaxed a day-long meeting attended by more than 150 representatives of the counties.

William R. Davlin, state secretary of commerce, told the group in a luncheon speech that the problem of all distressed areas is getting top attention from the incoming administration of President-elect John F. Kennedy.

Davlin, complimenting the counties for their "bootstrap efforts" to solve their problems, said they "deserve any help that you get from the government to continue with the solution of these problems."

COP County Head After Brenninger

ARINGTON, Pa. (AP)—The Montgomery County Republican chairman said Thursday he was going to wait a few days before renewing efforts to urge Rep. Floyd K. Brenninger to take the oath as a member of the State House of Representatives.

James E. Stauffer said he and other members of the county's Republican delegation in the House have tried, without success, to encourage Brenninger to take the oath.

"We are going to let the matter rest for a few days," Stauffer said. "But we reminded Brenninger that he was elected to the job and has an obligation to the voters in his district."

Brenninger, reached in his Lansdale office, said he would not go to Harrisburg to take the oath unless a seniority question is settled.

After Seniority
Brenninger, a representative since 1955, said he "was insisting" that seniority should have prevailed in selection of members to the House Republican Policy Committee.

Rep. Morton H. Fetterolf Jr., a Montgomery County member since 1957, was picked by the GOP leadership for the important committee assignment.

Republican leaders in Harrisburg, who declined to be identified, said that seniority is not the sole qualification in making assignments. They added that no changes in the policy group are contemplated.

"I don't want the post for myself," Brenninger said. "But as chairman of the county delegation in the House I should have been notified by the leadership about Fetterolf."

Sen. Scott Proposes Federal Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hugh Scott, Pennsylvania Republican, Thursday proposed a $214 million federal aid program for distressed areas, countering the one the Democrats hope will be acted upon quickly in the 87th Congress.

The Democratic proposal before Congress is sponsored by Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., chairman of President-elect Kennedy's special task force in this field, and Scott's colleague, Democrat Joseph S. Clark, D-Ill. It is a $389.5 million aid plan, and much like one introduced in the House by Rep. Daniel J. Flood, D-Pa.

The Douglas-Clark bill is expected to be labeled Senate Bill No. 1. The Scott proposal calls for a revolving loan fund of $20 million, $100 million for industrial loans, $50 million for rural development, and $50 million for public facility loans.

"This will provide a substantial basic program to stimulate local and community efforts," Scott said in a statement.

His program also would provide $10 million for subsistence payments to unemployed persons who are retraining, and $4 million for technical help to communities. The program would function under the Commerce Department which, Scott said, "has primary responsibility for business and industrial development."

Treasury Balance
WASHINGTON (AP)—The cash position of the Treasury Dec. 30: Balance $6,411,180,151; 73. Deposits $43,583,305,950.34. Withdrawals $18,175,988,290.30. Total debt $20,372,753,586.68. Gold assets $17,766,797,708.17. —Includes $401,555,976.58 debt not subject to statutory limit.

bill, introduced at previous sessions of Congress but never enacted into law for one reason or another, would be introduced at the current session of Congress. Davlin said the new proposals, if enacted, would help everyone and would be "a terrific inducement to industrial expansion."

A master resolution asked that the government invoke its legislative and administrative functions to:

1. Speed construction of flood control facilities and interstate highways already planned or designed.
2. Specifically mentioned were French Creek, the Shenango River and the Allegheny River flood control projects—and construction of the Pittsburgh-Erie-West Virginia Freeway and the Keystone Shortway.

3. Asked the government to utilize the facilities of the former Keystone Ordnance Works near Meadville as a defense plant rather than purchasing or building new facilities for necessary defense or other governmental activities.

4. Asked the government to provide money for the now depleted funds of the State of Pennsylvania for retraining of unemployed persons in all distressed areas of Pennsylvania.

5. Asked for legislation to enable the Small Business Administration to participate in first mortgage financing in distressed areas—evenly beyond the 50 per cent level applied nationally.

6. Direct civilian and military agencies of the government to apply more effectively the announced policy of channeling purchases to distressed areas.

Another resolution asked the state to authorize its Department of Commerce to establish a bureau in Washington to coordinate national defense and governmental procurement for the ultimate benefit of Pennsylvania industry, especially in distressed areas. Davlin endorsed this proposal.

The group also went on record in support of the Port of Erie development program. And it recommended that Congress consider harbor deepening projects separate from the omnibus river and harbor bills.

Counties represented were: Crawford, Erie, Venango, Mercer, Lawrence, Clarion, Clearfield, Warren, McKean, Jefferson and Butler.

Jobless In Keystone At Low Ebb
HARRISBURG (AP)—Total unemployment in Pennsylvania in mid-December was at its highest point since March of 1959, the State Bureau of Employment Service reported Thursday.

In a monthly report on unemployment conditions in the state, the bureau estimated 433,000 Pennsylvanians were jobless—an increase of 52,000 over mid-November.

Layoffs in construction, primary metals, apparel, textiles, stone, clay and glass were largely instrumental in the unemployment rise, the bureau said.

During the month from mid-November to mid-December, the report said, the unemployed segment of the civilian labor force increased 1 per cent, from 8.3 per cent to 9.3 per cent.

Above Figure
The mid-December figure was 102,000 above the figure for the same time last year, when Pennsylvania still was significantly affected by the work stoppage in the steel industry.

At that time, the bureau said, the number of unemployed workers in Pennsylvania was 331,000 or 7.1 per cent of the civilian labor force.

The figures do not include persons working from one to 34 hours per week on part-time jobs. The unemployment high on bureau records recorded in March of 1959 was 457,000 persons, or 9.8 per cent of the labor force.

State's Northwest Counties Seek Economic Assistance

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Representatives from 11 northwestern Pennsylvania counties on Thursday adopted resolutions urging the federal government to help improve their economic situation.

Adoption of the resolutions climaxed a day-long meeting attended by more than 150 representatives of the counties.

William R. Davlin, state secretary of commerce, told the group in a luncheon speech that the problem of all distressed areas is getting top attention from the incoming administration of President-elect John F. Kennedy.

Davlin, complimenting the counties for their "bootstrap efforts" to solve their problems, said they "deserve any help that you get from the government to continue with the solution of these problems."

COP County Head After Brenninger

ARINGTON, Pa. (AP)—The Montgomery County Republican chairman said Thursday he was going to wait a few days before renewing efforts to urge Rep. Floyd K. Brenninger to take the oath as a member of the State House of Representatives.

James E. Stauffer said he and other members of the county's Republican delegation in the House have tried, without success, to encourage Brenninger to take the oath.

"We are going to let the matter rest for a few days," Stauffer said. "But we reminded Brenninger that he was elected to the job and has an obligation to the voters in his district."

Brenninger, reached in his Lansdale office, said he would not go to Harrisburg to take the oath unless a seniority question is settled.

After Seniority
Brenninger, a representative since 1955, said he "was insisting" that seniority should have prevailed in selection of members to the House Republican Policy Committee.

Rep. Morton H. Fetterolf Jr., a Montgomery County member since 1957, was picked by the GOP leadership for the important committee assignment.

Republican leaders in Harrisburg, who declined to be identified, said that seniority is not the sole qualification in making assignments. They added that no changes in the policy group are contemplated.

"I don't want the post for myself," Brenninger said. "But as chairman of the county delegation in the House I should have been notified by the leadership about Fetterolf."

Sen. Scott Proposes Federal Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hugh Scott, Pennsylvania Republican, Thursday proposed a $214 million federal aid program for distressed areas, countering the one the Democrats hope will be acted upon quickly in the 87th Congress.

The Democratic proposal before Congress is sponsored by Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., chairman of President-elect Kennedy's special task force in this field, and Scott's colleague, Democrat Joseph S. Clark, D-Ill. It is a $389.5 million aid plan, and much like one introduced in the House by Rep. Daniel J. Flood, D-Pa.

The Douglas-Clark bill is expected to be labeled Senate Bill No. 1. The Scott proposal calls for a revolving loan fund of $20 million, $100 million for industrial loans, $50 million for rural development, and $50 million for public facility loans.

"This will provide a substantial basic program to stimulate local and community efforts," Scott said in a statement.

His program also would provide $10 million for subsistence payments to unemployed persons who are retraining, and $4 million for technical help to communities. The program would function under the Commerce Department which, Scott said, "has primary responsibility for business and industrial development."

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day if it is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message; the letters under the checked figures give you

To Appear At Home For Aged

Musicians Local Lists Engagements

BANGOR — Fred Sabatine, project chairman for the recording and transcription fund, reported three engagements for the month when Bangor-Stroudsburg Local 577, American Federation of Musicians, convened in union headquarters yesterday.

The Local's concert band, directed by Walter Lane, will appear at the Salvation Army, Pen Argyl, Jan. 15; at the Woman's Club, Pen Argyl, Jan. 16; and at the Home for the Aged, Stroudsburg, Jan. 23. Cards of thanks were received from the Hamilton PTA, the First Methodist Church, Bangor; and the Monroe County Home, Stroudsburg, for concerts provided free by the Local.

New Member
Joseph LeDonne, of Roseto, was received as a new member. Officers were scheduled to assemble Wednesday, Jan. 25, to audit the books. Carl Rice, president, was in charge. Reports were submitted by Sammy Canova, treasurer, and Nelo Maso, business agent. The next meeting was scheduled for Feb. 7.

Installation of officers took place. Rice was seated as president; Canova, secretary-treasurer; Sabatine, vice-president; Kenneth Brown, membership secretary; and Roger Miller, Maso, Joseph P. Falcone, George Humphreys, Ernest Lohman and William Diehl, directors.

Home Officers

The home association also seated Falcone as president; Rice, vice-president; Maso, secretary-treasurer; and Canova, Miller, Diehl, Gerald Rice, Lohman and Brown, directors.

Rice was the installing officer. A social hour concluded the evening.

JFK Service Family Invited

GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP) — A woman whose first husband served in the Navy with President-elect John F. Kennedy has been invited to be a guest of Kennedy at his inauguration in Washington on Jan. 20.

The invitation also was extended to her present husband and her eight children.

"It certainly is a great honor and pleasure," said Mrs. J. Hilary Kelley.

Kennedy and her first husband, the late Leonard Thom, spent 15 hours in the waters of the Pacific Ocean after their PT boat was cut in half on Aug. 2, 1942. Thom, a former Ohio State University football player, was killed in 1946 in an auto crash.

His widow later married Dr. J. Hilary Kelley, a research engineer and son of the late Congressman Augustine B. Kelley.
